Conform to Your Reflection

Psordid

I see how times have become strange
I see how my views have begun to change
Oh how beautiful life can be
When a finger never points at me

Ever notice how we always say
What others have said in a different way
'Cause if we don't find someone to blame
Our views will drive us insane

As our fingers have become pale
As our thoughts are becoming stale
You're not as special as you might think
Only look at what they do wrong
As you just go along
You're not as special as you hope to be

So if you are unique like anyone else
If you don't care like anyone else
If you are yourself like anyone else
You are like no one
Just like everyone else

I will only conform to my reflection

You're unique and special too
What about the millions just like you?

Lyrics Submitted by Derp Herpington

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/