

Conform to Your Reflection

Psordid

I see how times have become strange
I see how my views have begun to change
 Oh how beautiful life can be
 When a finger never points at me

 Ever notice how we always say
 What others have said in a different way
'Cause if we don't find someone to blame
 Our views will drive us insane

 As our fingers have become pale
 As our thoughts are becoming stale
You're not as special as you might think
 Only look at what they do wrong
 As you just go along
You're not as special as you hope to be

 So if you are unique like anyone else
 If you don't care like anyone else
If you are yourself like anyone else
 You are like no one
 Just like everyone else

I will only conform to my reflection

 You're unique and special too
What about the millions just like you?

Lyrics Submitted by Derp Herpington

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>