No One Else Knows

Building 429

My world is closing in on the inside

But I'm not showing it

When all I am is crying out

I hold it in and fake a smile

Still I'm broken, I'm broken

Only one can understand

And only one can hold the hand

Of the broken, of the brokenWhen no one else knows how I feel

Your love for me is proven real

When no one else cares where I've been

You run to me with outstretched hands

And You hold me in Your arms againI need no explanation of why me

I just need confirmation

Only You could understand the emptiness inside my head

I am falling, I'm falling

I'm falling down upon my knees

To find the one who gives me peace

I am flying, Lord I am flyingWhen no one else knows how I feel

Your love for me is proven real

When no one else cares where I've been

You run to me with outstretched hands

And You hold me in Your arms againAnd I have come to you in search of faith

'Cause I can't see beyond this place

Oh You are God and I am man

So I'll leave it in Your hands When no one else knows how I feel

Your love for me is proven real

When no one else cares where I've been

You run to me with outstretched handsWhen no one else knows how I feel

Your love for me is proven real

When no one else cares where I've been

You run to me with outstretched hands

And You hold me in Your armsOhh, how You hold me in Your arms I know that You'll hold me in Your arms again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/