Finch

Slumber has erased me
Comfort is only skin deep
A dirty mirror reveals reason
To digest corrective medicineI burned up, I burned up
Ablaze upon re-entry, slow down
I woke up, I woke up
Face down along the shoreline, paradise is mineShadows and living trees
Reach out to embrace me
This place here, is where we don't exist
He carries dead weight with his fistI burned up, I burned up
Ablaze upon re-entry, slow down
I woke up, I woke up
Face down along the shoreline, paradise is mineYou can't take it with you
You can't take it with youFrame by frame, we begin to change
Skeletons and robot brains
She found a book that writes itself
That plays it all upon a stageOver and over again
Over and over again
Where is the end?
