

Starting Over

Korn

Got to face your fear, lying on the floor
Step into nothing, what the hell am I here for?
So come on and play, stab me in my heart
So much of time was wasted ripping me apart
We are the hurt inside your head
Lost in the valley of all that's dead
Constantly twisting things I say
Happiness is falling in plain as day
It's starting over, starting over
Can't stand, it's over, God is gonna take me out
My time is over, this time is over
Why is this over? God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
Crawling on the floor all around this space
Talking to myself why is this thing I got to face?
Walking through a door, has it been a waste?
Going on and on, thinking I could find my place
We are the hurt inside your head
Lost in the valley of all that's dead
Constantly twisting things I say
Happiness is falling in plain as day
It's starting over, starting over
Can't stand, it's over, God is gonna take me out
My time is over, this time is over
Why is this over? God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
God is gonna take me out
You can't see, I'm torn away from you
And everything that's close to me
I cannot face the truth, it's nothing that I believe
Just run away from me thinking that you're free from me
Come take me, come take me, come take me
Come take me, come take me
We are the hurt inside your head
(Come take me)
Lost in the valley of all that's dead
Constantly twisting things I say
(Come take me)
Happiness is falling in plain as day
We are the hurt inside your head
(Come take me)
Lost in the valley of all that's dead
Constantly twisting things I say

(Come take me)
Happiness is falling in plain as day
