

Old Scars/Future Hearts

All Time Low

In the dark there's a light that's calling everyone out
If you could see beyond the walls that you have built
I know it's hard to escape the past and start it again
Those memories of all the future hearts you killed I don't wanna be the one that's left behind
Don't blame me, don't hate me
I don't wanna be the one that's left behind I won't fade away
Be forgotten or just cast away
This life is mine to live
I won't fade away
I am lost inside this endless haze of life
But this life is mine to live Waking up just to catch yourself dreaming again
But you won't think outside the lines that hold you in
You say it's easier just to hide yourself away
To shut the windows, lock the doors and disappear I don't wanna be the one that's left behind
Don't blame me, don't hate me
I don't wanna be the one that's left behind I won't fade away
Be forgotten or just cast away
This life is mine to live
I won't fade away
I am lost inside this endless haze of life
But this life is mine to live We got scars on our future hearts
But we never looked back
No, we never looked back We got scars on our future hearts
But we never looked back
No, we never looked back We got scars on our future hearts
But we never looked back
No, we never looked back We got scars on our future hearts
But we never looked back
No, we never looked back I don't wanna be the one that's left behind
Don't blame me, don't hate me
I don't wanna be the one that's left behind I won't fade away
Be forgotten or just cast away
This life is mine to live
I won't fade away
I am lost inside this endless haze of life
But this life is mine to live I won't fade away
Be forgotten or just cast away
This life is mine to live We got scars on our future hearts
But we never looked back

No, we never looked back We got scars on our future hearts
But we never looked back
No, we never looked back
