The Week

Rebecca Hollweg

I said Iâ€™d stay at home
Tidy up and write some songs
A week just on my own
Is not that long

I slept a day away
And then some friends called by
I went to see a play
Next day I cried

On the day that you missed me I missed you too
All the day you cried for me I cried for you
I cried for you
I cried for you
On the day that I missed you

Took me by surprise
How much I felt that scene
I could not use the time
Just to be free

It took until they find â€˜Til I can feel at home
Happy to be alive
And on my own

On the day that you missed me I missed you too
All the day you cried for me I cried for you
I cried for you
I cried for you
On the day that I missed you

(I realised I must slow down)
(Take some time to drift away)
(Slowly steal away the day)
(From my life here)

On the day that you missed me I missed you too
All the day you cried for me I cried for you
I cried for you

I cried for you
On the day that I missed you
