Junk Of The Hearts

The Cardigans

We never chose to part
In this stupid play
I never felt by heart

That I could behave
The way the roles were made
I know that I've done you wrong

But you're hard to please When your faith is gone And when you can't believe

I'm on my hands and knees
The junk of the hearts
I've given all of me

And you crave for more
Weird how this makes us feel
Insecure

That's what friends are for
