Something Was Always Missing, But It Was Never You

Misery Signals

Resist
We've come too far to start this all again
I've come too far to let you ruin me
I'll walk hand in hand with your ghost
Before I fall into your net again
There's no turning back
What can be said that I haven't already learned in silence?
There's no turning back
What can be done that you haven't already stained in violence?
We are beyond repairIn essence of letting go of what you try to defend Asking questions has you tangled in knots
You can't untie a rope without both ends
Frayed words lie with broken bones
As broken dreams reside in broken homesA witness to my actions of love and regret
Those verses, my vengeance-I hope you're happy
It's worth it to watch you choke on my words

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/