

Dead Stare

Act of Defiance

Vengeance, strike you down with no apology
Penance, for the depth of my psychology
Reaching out, trying to find a place to exist

Presence, the moment's struggle slowly consuming me Silence, buried inside the secrets we all hide

Essence, all the good within but can't abide
The light once had, crushed under black skies

Remnants, hopes and dreams ignite, come alive! Legacy, what would you have me to be?

Jealousy, the shell is all that's left to see

Heresy, leave me to my misery
Remedy, confront my pain peacefully
Legacy, what would you have me to be?
Jealousy, the shell is all that's left to see

Heresy, leave me to my misery

Remedy, confront my pain peacefully I see myself Falling, into a dead stare

The mirror's grimace is more than I can bear
Calling, out in the cold dark air

Does anybody hear me? Like I'm not there! Falling, into a dead stare

The mirror's grimace is more than I can bear
Crawling, out of the dark despair

Rising from the ashes sinister ensnare Legacy, what would you have me to be?

Jealousy, the shell is all that's left to see

Heresy, leave me to my misery
Remedy, confront my pain peacefully

Acceptance, for regrets that past cannot be changed
Riddance, shed the skin of thoughts once deranged
Through the dark, shards of light pierce the cloud

Reverence, avoid the mirrors glances and the shame Crawling from a dead stare
Forestalling a dead stare
