

I'm On Your Side

Jim Dandy, Black Oak Arkansas

Lately things haven't been goin' our way
And this road seems to get steeper every day
You crawl inside yourself, when I pull you out we fight
Seems like you've forgotten, I'm on your side
Do you think it makes you more of a man
To shoulder the worry, shield me if you can?
But it's this wall of silence, that's enough to make me scream
Tear it down and you'll find out we're on the same team
I'm on your side when you don't know where to turn
Look to the left or just to the right
Turn to me when you can't turn off the lights

I'm on your side
Don't you remember how close we used to be
When you come home and bear your heart and soul to me?
I'm on your side when you don't know where to turn
Look to the left or just to the right
Turn to me when you can't turn off the lights
I'm on your side
Turn to me when you can't turn off the lights
I'm on your side
