Episode

Pavlov's Dog

I caught you walking on a rainy day
And tossing petals to a pool
So keep your mind off passing hours
'Cause I'll be coming for you soonMake believe you are a dancer
Though perhaps you make a better queen
And before you leave better count roses
And a mad, mad way you want to scream
If you want, he gives you slippers
Shoot an arrow on past the sun
Or be the keeper always of my mind and heart
Or is it best you go unseenOnce you were star-struck and now twice you're not
And things go badly as they do
All the rainbows out of heaven
I'll only steal them when I canAnd me I'm just your soldier
An heirloom to a basket queen
And all the blisters in our fevered
And only silence killed my dreams
If you want he'll give you slippers
Shoot an arrow on past the sun
Or be the keeper always of my mind and heart
You think you got control, you don't,
You'll never know, you'll never knowYou'll be the keeper of the Holy Grail
You sieze it quick, you dare not fail
You're the only survivor of your holy quest
Or is it best you go unseen

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/