Take another hit and it makes me big again
       In, out around my head again
       Here and I'm never givin' up
     'Cause I don't wanna leave today
           My situation declines
          The tension rises above
             Everything I see
                 Let it go
                 (Go, go)
                Let it, let it
                 Let it go
                 (Go, go)
      You can't have everything now
      One more hit and I forget again
        Now I'm on my back again
       Down and I'm not gettin' up
     'Cause I don't wanna move today
          My motivation declines
       The temperature rises above
             Everything I feel
                 Let it go
                 (Go, go)
                Let it, let it
                 Let it go
                 (Go, go)
        You can't have everything
                 Let it go
                 (Go, go)
                Let it, let it
                 Let it go
                 (Go, go)
      You can't have everything now
      You've seen this happen before
       You know, it's not a mistake
If you've seen this before you'll see it again
     You fell asleep when I was awake
       You left me blind, left behind
           When all I feel is hate

And all I hate All I've hated Let it go (Go, go) Let it, let it Let it go (Go, go) You can't have everything Let it go (Go, go) Let it, let it Let it go (Go, go) You can't have everything now You can't have everything now You can't
