

The City

Oh No Not Stereo

We all live in the city
The city that we love to hate
The city that's fucking dirty
In every single fucking way But you'll still find a smile wherever you find me I'm wondering if this place is right for me We're all getting tired of this big city
The city I can never understand yeah yeah
I can't go back home
There's no such thing as home for me right now The city will take you anyway it can 5 million people under the man We all live in a city
A city that we love to hate
A city that's fucking dirty
In every single fucking way The city will take you anyway it can 5 million people under the man
They've got us in the palms of their hands
