The Process of Losing and Gaining

Before Today

Unread reasoning stands on our heads
A red motivation has white virtuesBut the mind and its sensibilities
Are not fitting comfortably in the skin
Do we retaliate or wait
Shall we send our sons away
Or just ignore this quick disguise
And hate most radiantly
Bare weakness to all things that we believe
Foundations can be shaken
Till' windows break
And soon your house falls down
Let it go let it go let it go, take no moreIt's easy to find shelter in anger
In accordance with destructive expression
Obviously still learning
Take time, take reasoning, take anything
Till' you're completely qualified to think
Let better light leadWe should be wiser than our fathers
We should be learning from our history
So have we questioned our first response
And have we wiped all of the stains off of our hearts
