

I Care

Tony Underwood

Just as I walked in and saw your face.

I was glad to be a friend even if we couldn't do more than sit and talk...

With little in common but a stare,
it made it seem like we were always there.

So, what is important? Whether we spend the night, or call once or twice? The time as come to say I care...With a stranger needing a new way. It was clear to see by the way you made me shield my heart...

Opening to find a friend. Someone who hears you and all the words you say. So, what is this all for?
To say I'll always need someone just like you, but don't worry, I can need you and let you go, because you are my friend...
