Mersey

Pavlov's Dog

I saw your light last night
And I hoped that you were home
I saw some shadows move
Then I wished that I had phoned
It seems like I was running scared
I guess now so are you
And Mersey I'll just save my love for youAnd all the other times
That I wished that you were here
And everything went crazy
When my head filled up with beer
I played that I was Bogart
And that you were my Bacall
And everything just shattered at curtain call
