

Lucy

Plastic Flowers

I see her standing out in the dark,
Waiting for a call,
There's a chance for us to head inside,
Enjoy the rest of the night,
I try to calm her down in my sleep,
I see myself inside a lucid dream,
What a life to live,
What an honest lie to choose for this day. There is place where you always go,
Cause you need to hide,
You think it's normal to escape yourself,
Tell me how it's done.
I try to calm her down in my sleep,
Those lucid dreams are always there, awaiting for my only soul,
What an honest live to choose for this day. From what I see,
We better call it quits,
I just need to pretend that we are all the same,
I just need to pretend that we are all the same

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>