Just Look At You Now

Howard Jones

Iâ€™ve known you since you were a girl
When things just didnâ€™t work out for you
I said donâ€™t crack up and see both sides
But you kept on blaming the world for everything

I tried to tell you that you were in control
But you didnâ€™t seem to listen to a word I say
But Iâ€™m never giving up, giving up on you
I try to help you see the world in a different way

Hey, yeah, just look at you now
Riding on a silver wave
That keeps on going

Through the sun and through the rain
Through the good and the bad times
Through the joy and through the pain
Hey, look at you now
See what youâ€™ve become

Now look me in the eye, now and tell me straight
Did you find it hard to tell me everything
I said things can only get better dear
But they wonâ€™t if you donâ€™t lift a finger to help me

Whatâ€™s the point in taking this human form
If we canâ€™t understand the point of living here
Who would ever want to live alone
Without sharing this world with everyone and everything

Just look at you now
Riding on a silver wave
That keeps on going

Through the sun and through the rain
Through the good and the bad times
Through the joy and through the pain
Hey, look at you now
See what youâ€™ve become

See what youâ€™ve become
See what youâ€™ve become
Hey, look at you now
See what youâ€™ve become

Hey, just look at you now
Riding on a silver wave
That keeps on going

Through the sun and through the rain
Through the good and the bad times
Through the joy and through the pain
Hey, look at you now
See what youâ€™ve become

Riding on a silver wave
See what youâ€™ve become
Riding on a silver wave
(Riding on a silver wave)

Riding on a silver wave

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by ROBBIE BRONNIMANN, HOWARD JONES
Lyrics Â© KOBALT MUSIC PUB AMERICA INC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/