

Ravenous

Nicki Bluhm and The Gramblers

Well I know I saw something through the curtains in the dark the flash of a dagger as you stabbed him the heart you looked up at the window as the moon began to rise for a fierce frozen moment you looked into my eyesrun...run...run...run...run...run...runnow the years have kept going but the memory never changed I'm stalking like a lion There's no limit to my rage I'm hating it all with eyes like a knife I'm hunting you down if it takes my whole lifeI'm ravenous for my revenge hating you down until the endIt won't make me feel better but I'll do it just the same It's a curse you cast upon me a grim and lonely game you slowly start to stumble Like you're walking in a dream And you know I've finally found you Will you have the chance to scream?I'm ravenous for my revenge hating you down until the endI'm ravenous for my revenge hating you down until the end
