

Dead Sun

Mantra

Melting the knowledge into one mind
Work is a treasure
Deep inside the earth, in the rock's veins
Crushing the core

The gift of the stars is revealed by the fire

Open the depth of the past
Reach for the stardust inside
To burn them again and again
Bring the dead sun back to life

Open the depth of time
Light up the embers again
Hammer the dust from the sun
Into the shapes of the mind

The gloaming is coming
It's time to guard the glimpse in the gloom
Wait for the moon to brighten up the fire

Ready to hammer
In the wave of the rough and the fond
Stone circle transcends the iron drum

Melting the knowledge into one mind

Deep down the hole, there's a burning sun
We're becoming our own creations
Melting the earth into gods and weapons
We're becoming visions in the caves

Drawing dark smoke out of the earth
Blaze and flares shoot up and burn your skin
The light so bright that you'll become blind
The hits so loud that you'll become deaf

No cliff is high enough
To satisfy my will for endless fall
