Little Bitty Heart

Claude King

The strangest thing in all the world is a heart so small
It will just keep right on breaking, if you ever let it fall
And I guess, I've never known how to solve the mystery
Oh, how a thing so tiny could control so much of meA little bitty love can grow the strongest
A little bitty time away from you can be the longest
Oh, how I wish, I had never come to know
How a little bitty heart can break so bigI wish that I could find a way to get a heart that's new
I would lock it deep inside me, just out of reach of you
But I guess, there is no way how to solve the mystery
Oh, how a thing so tiny could control so much of meA little bitty love can grow the strongest
A little bitty time away from you can be the longest
Oh, how I wish, I had never come to know
How a little bitty heart can break so big
