

Private Shipwreck

Luke Temple

I made a frantic gesture
We finally won the war
I laid down my time

They say we won their freedom
But my hands are trembling
There freedom for my mind

How can I live together
But die alone
My lifeâ€™s a private shipwreck at sea
Maybe Iâ€™ll rise from the ashes
Take a skipping stone
And throw it passed the wave thatâ€™s come for me

I knew your face while sleeping
I picked up every stone
It could have been mine
Now the mirrors cracking
Along with every bone
In God's own design

How can I live together
But die alone
My lifeâ€™s a private shipwreck at sea
Maybe Iâ€™ll rise from the ashes
Take a skipping stone
And through it past the wave thatâ€™s come for me

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by Breneman, Luke Temple
Lyrics Â© Kobalt Music Publishing Ltd.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>