What Dwells Within

Bolt Thrower

An unseen force tears through your soul
Revealing memories, past life unknown
Fervent emotions from deep within Inner transformation now beginsLife before, you cannot conceive
Thoughts repressed, denial to believePrecise identity, you cannot tell Existing inside this mortal shellSummon the powers that dominate
Grasp your inner strength, seize control of hate
A forgotten past, a life of normality
This sudden transition redirects your destinyConsumed with resentment, hatred you now possess
Potency awakened from eternal rest
Through invocation to an existence you detestWhat has become of your humility?
Corrupted through change to anguish and misery
As man's preordained fate now closes in
You're a silent witness to what dwells withinAs man judges all by outward impressions
Our status is classed through amounting possessions
Whilst shrouding the truth through deceitful expression
Injustice presides by a judicious obsession

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/