

Are We

Justin Hines

It gets cold in our room
When the times decide to change without warning
    And I feel like a child
    Cuz it's getting harder to be...
        to just be...

    And I must confess
    I ask myself if we're still trying
        And in moments like this
    I'm not sure how far we an fall
        Cuz it's a long way down

    I'm wondering
        if what we had
        was never our to hold
    And if the story of us should've never been told
        And are we to part and never to mend?
            Are we at end?
            Are we?

    If you should cry
    Who am I to say your tears flow without meaning?
        And with you on the floor
        I should've asked you to dance
        Now that's on my mind

    If what we had
        was never our to hold
    And if the story of us should've never been told
        And are we to part and never to mend?
            Are we at end?
            Are we?

    And I'll ask for forgiveness in my quiet hour
    While pulling the petals from a weather scarred flower
    Maybe I never knew you like a boy should know his girl.

    And I'm sorry...

If what we had
was never our to hold

And if the story of us should've never been told
And are we to part and never to mend?

Are we at end?

Are we?

Are we?
