You're So Real

Matchbox 20

Yes, I am
I hope you think you beat me
Hope I start talking crazy
Before you understand meAre we through?
You think that I'm beneath you
But you like the things that I do
Wrap 'em up and take 'em with youI'm alright
I hope I can sleep for one night
If not to cool my insides
Maybe to calm my backsideRain on me
I've got a weakness in me
I think that weakness feeds me
I don't think you think you need meSunshine, you're the best time I ever, ever had
But I think I made you feel bad
A black fly on your necktie, time after timeBut when the sun starts sinking on your beautiful soul
Make you cry, cry baby, make you feel so cold, don't you know?
It's alright sometimes you've just got to show how you feel
'Cause that's just you, baby, hell, you're so realRun this 'round in your head
Like you don't know what's on the inside
You don't know me too well
You ain't seen my badsideShame on me
Shame on the things that I'd be
If you could complicate me
If you could get inside meSometimes, you're the best time I've ever, ever known Pretty girl with a wicked smile on
But I've cried for the last time
Something just don't feel rightBut when the sun starts sinking on your beautiful soul
Make you cry, cry baby, make you feel so cold, don't you know?
It's alright sometimes you've just got to show how you feel
'Cause that's just you, baby, hell, you're so realYou always know just who you are
You never needed someone else to realize yourselfBut when the sun starts sinking on your beautiful soul
Make you cry, cry baby, make you feel so cold, don't you know?
It's alright sometimes you've just got to show how you feel
'Cause that's just you, baby, hell, you're so realYeah, baby, you're so real
Yeah, baby, you're so real, so real, so real
Oh God, yeah, yeah, yeah, oh
