More Heat Than Light

The Veils

The imperial disaster's in a furious decline
They've been burning down the ghettos burning down the ghettos
Crossing all
Of the lines
And everyone gets so excited as it all start to rise
All the time all the time radiating
More heat than light
More it than lightThey've been spitting on the mirage in the back of the van
If he can do it if he can do it if he can do it
I think anybody can
They've been polishing the dolphin you've never seen a beast so bright
All the time all the time radiating
More heat than light
More heat than lightAll you funny little men
With that fever in your eyes
You say put them with the others
You should never analyse
He fucked the watermelon women like a thief in the night
All the time all the time radiating
More heat than light
More heat than light
