

The Little Fete

Vangelis

I take a bottle of wine and I go drink it
Among the flowers, we are always three
Counting my shadow and my friend
The shimmering moon Happily the moon knows nothing of drinking
And my shadow is never thirsty, when I sing
The moon listens to me in silence
When I dance, my shadow dances too After all festivities the guests must depart
This sadness I do not know
When I go home, the moon goes with me
And my shadow follows me
