

Moving Stones

Hazmat Modine

Well I got to carpe diem in a limestone mausoleum I'm a chain gang breaking stone
I build my temple all alone

When I'm climbing up that ladder I serve'm on a silver platter heaving up another boulder: Sisyphus when he gets older

Down came the prophecy he told me build it up higher and if it's coming down on me well then I'm nothing but a sac-ri-fice

When I take my poison ivy scaffold and I'll be climbing deer tick and holy-rollers stacking stones that grind like molars beer glass and broken mirrors Sent down from bygone eras construct a stony palace:

built with love and tons of malice
(CHORUS)

Well here I've been sequestered or else I'd be arrested for crimes of arts and science standing on the back of giants

Iâ€™ll get my bricks and mortar Iâ€™ll be closing off that border you're garden was forgotten:
I had your fruit: it was rotten
(CHORUS)
