Don't Fade Away

Bleu Edmondson

I still think of you and forget my name
Forget the rules to this filthy game
I'm still your fool and I'm not ashamed to say
Your voice the song stuck in my head
Your scent, the scent that paints my bed
If not for your faith then I'd be dead todayI know you had to go
Everything I did and didn't say
I know you had to go
But please don't fade awayOn nights when I feel dead inside
I drink too much and I take a ride
To find a place on the other side
Where my heart don't have to know
It's a desperate sky, it's a lonesome call
It's a fog of shame and alcohol
And I wish to God that you would call
Cause I'm running out of roadI know you had to go
Everything I did and didn't say
I know you had to go
But please don't fade away
