The Best and the Worst

Leona Lewis

It's been one too many days wondering what I did wrong
One too many days hoping to hear the phone
One too many days feeling all alone
Maybe it's time for me to move onSo i'm taking the hurt, the bruises and ruins
The stones from the wreckage to build something knew
Sometimes a lot makes you search for the truth
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of you
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of youAll this emptiness is space for me to breathe again
Lonliness is finding my own freedom
Through the shame I told myself to walk with grace
One day you'll regret those heartless things you saidSo i'm taking the hurt, the bruises and ruins
Tearing it down, down, to build something knew
Sometimes a lot makes you search for the truth
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of you
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of youI won't look back, I wish you well
I lost my way but found myself
Taking the hurt, the bruises and ruins
Tearing it down, down, to build something knew
Sometimes a lot makes you search for the truth
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of youSometimes the worst brings the best out of you
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of you
Sometimes the worst brings the best out of you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/