Travis

Gwyneth Paltrow

You were born between a rock and a hard place
To a couple of losers
I lived on the other side of your duplex
I heard you getting those bruisesI never would've wanted
To walk in your shoes
It scared me to death, I was a kid too
Sometimes I think about youTravis are you out there somewhere
Searching for somebody to care?
Are you doing the same thing
That your daddy did to you?Wish I could have helped you somehow
Wonder if it's just too late now
Saw your pain, how come nobody
Seemed to have a clue
Is your world still black and blue?
Travis, TravisDid you follow in your mama's footsteps?
Strung out on bad things
Just a product of circumstances
Never taught what love meansTravis, I hope you did it different this time
All you had to do was make up your mind
Well, how did you decide to live your life?Travis are you out there somewhere
Searching for somebody to care?
Are you doing the same thing
That your daddy did to you?Wish I could have helped you somehow
Wonder if it's just too late now
Saw your pain, how come nobody
Seemed to have a clue
Is your world still black and blue?
Travis, TravisAnd the circle goes round
Until someone hears the sound
Of a breaking heartWish I could have helped you somehow
Wonder if it's just too late
Saw your pain, how come nobody
Seemed to have a clue
Is your world still black and blue?
Travis, Travis, Travis, Travis, Travis

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/