

I Could Be the One

Donna Lewis

I could be your sea of sand
I could be your warmth of desire
I could be your prayer of hope
I could be your gift of everyday I could be your tide of heaven
I could be a hint of what's to come
I could be ordinary
I could be the one I could be your blue eyed angel
I could be the storm before the calm
I could be your secret pleasure
I could be your well, wishing well I could be your breath of life
I could be your European dream
I could be ordinary
I could be the one And I would lie here in the darkness
And I would lie here for all time
And I would lie here watching over you
Comfort you, sing to you I could be your worry partner
I could be your socialite
I could be your green eyed monster
I could be your force of light I could be your temple garden
I could be your tender hearted child
I could be ordinary
I could be the one And I would lie here in the darkness
And I would lie here for all time
And I would lie here watching over you
Comfort you, sing to you Will I ever change the journey?
Will the hushed tones disappear?
Oh little Rita, let me hold you
Oh little Rita, let me love you I could be your leafy island
I could be your thunder in the clouds
I could be your dark enclosure
I could be your romantic soul I could be your small beginning
I could be your soothing universe
I could be ordinary
I could be the one I could be ordinary
I could be the one
I could be ordinary
I could be the one
