

Night Window (Great Good Fine Ok Remix)

Young Liars

I was just waiting outside for her to find me
Picked up the pebbles from the front garden bed
Snuck up the drive way, below the window
And it was so quiet, my heart was just pounding
Up, up they went to knock on her windowsill You and me were meant to be
The storm's coming out
The storm's coming out
You and me were meant to be
WE ARE RUNNING Flash-forward to another night in another neighborhood
Went by the streetlamps at the end of a cloudy day
Inside my 80's light brown Sedan it was so quiet
My heart was just pounding
You were not ready to go inside quite yet You and me were meant to be
The storm's coming out
The storm's coming out
You and me were meant to be
WE ARE RUNNING Faster than you can
Faster than you know
Faster than you can
WE ARE RUNNING You and me were meant to be
The storm's coming out
The storm's coming out
You and me were meant to be
The storm's coming out
The storm's coming out
You and me were meant to be
The storm's coming out You and me were meant to be
The storm's coming out
The storm's coming out
You and me were meant to be
