

Only You

Disciple

I will live and die for You only, only You were the only one that I could turn to
You were the only one that could ever calm my sea
That separated me from what You knew I could be, only You And through it all, I'm Yours alone
I will live and die for You only, only
And I will die to live for You, for You only You will be the one I will call by name
Even when I find myself on either side of pain
You will be the reason for the breath I breathe, only You And through it all, I'm Yours alone
I will live and die for You only, only You
And I will die to live for You only, only Take this burning heart that burns for You
Make it what You want
Break it, mend it, it is Yours alone
For You I will live and die I will live and die for You only, only You
And I will die to live for You, for You, only You, only
