

Days Gone By

Joe Walsh

We have just begun
We should feel the part of us that we're leaving back home
We have just begun
On the deed that's done to us all the favors to be grownWaiting in a line
Not thinking of the time
You must go out and find
Whatever did we leave behind?Soon we shall look back
On the past experience I'll remember that dream
Soon we shall look back
One by one we're finding out all the answers about homeWaiting on a [Incomprehensible]
That we had
Wiping your brow again
Clock keeps twenty past tenAnd we're thinking of time goingWait till tomorrow
Think of today, think of the days gone by
Bye-bye is too late, cry, cry is heartache
Bye-bye, the days gone by, days gone byIn the end we'll see
How much of the party we've missed already, please tell me
In the end we'll see
Hoping for another chance to hold onto foreverWaiting in a line
Not thinking of the time
You must go out and find
Whatever did we leave behind?And we're thinking of time going by
And we're thinking of time going by Going by, going by
