Long After

Ronnie Dove

Long after the mountains crumble
Long after the Redwoods tumble
My heart will still belong to you

Long after the birds stop crying
And oceans are slowly drying
My love will still be true

The sky may be dark and murky
Stars may all be gone
But as long as there's a breath of life in me
My love for you will go on

Long after we are together
I won't leave your arms no never
I'll just live for you
To love and adore you
Long after my life
I will be yours

Long after we are together
I won't leave your arms no never
I'll just live for you
To love and adore you
Long after my life
I will be yours
