

Highway of Shame

The Bogmen

It's a nice day out for a stroll in time and space
Memories have married and they've laid their eggs
 Right angles held captive by a square
 It takes four to tango and a steady hand
 But you let the past get so out of hand
Now when you're offered a seat you insist on standingWounds heal with time, come time
 Wounds heal with time, come timeI felt a brand on my back
 Go join the rest of the pack
 You're a number, pick a number any number
 You're hitching on a highway of shame
 You think you're free but you're riddled with pain
Got a ride with a car crash, I caused itWounds heal with time, come time
Wounds heal with time, come timeTime to pop that bubble that you're in It's gonna take a lot more than a pin
 It's gonna take some revelation from a past life
 You're hitching on a highway of shame
 You're all alone and you're only to blame
 All alone now, no direction, no emotion
