

Echoes

Miss May I

My world has come apart.
The bricks fall away (leaving only memories).
I walk with no hand.
No hand to hold so I'm losing (all control).I know I know you're already gone.
You're never coming home.
I know I know you're already gone.
I face the nights (all alone).We've spent our lives together for one another.
A single moment took it all away.
They said you had stopped breathing.
They said you had stopped breathing.The birds they don't (sing anymore)
Would it even sound the same?
All I hear is (echoes),
of what I remember from yesterday.I know you're already gone.
You're never coming home.
I know you're already gone.
I face the nights all alone.We've spent our lives together for one another.
A single moment took it all away.
They said you had stopped breathing
The man in black took you from me.We've spent our lives together for one another.
A single moment took it all away.
They said you had stopped breathing
The man in black took you from me.He took you from me.
