Runaway

Elle Varner

Living on the run around
Another night, another town
A little weak, he put you down
Until you fell into ground
So you went around the block again
Another man, another friend
The little lies you tell yourself
To better sleep, but they never helpSo you click your black heels three times
But you never get home
Youre still there, in his bed
Feeling dirty and alone!
You toss and turn cause
You know you dont belong
Lost inside this lonely fairytale gone wrong[Chorus:]
So you wanna runaway
You always wanna run away
You always wanna run away
Hey, hey, hey
You dont wanna be alone
You never wanna be alone
You know you gotta run yourself back home!Got another baby on the way
A different girl, a different state
You couldnt bear to see her face
So you left a note, that you couldnt stay!
But you got no where to lay your head
Cause everywhere, you've ever slept
You sure had your little fun then you got scared, and you had to run!So you click your black timbs three times
But you never get home
You spend all of your days
Living like a Rolling Stone!
And now you wish you
Had somewhere to belong
Somebody that you could call your own![Chorus:]
And now you wanna runaway
You always wanna run away
You always wanna run away
Hey, hey, hey
Cause you dont wanna be alone
You never wanna be alone

You know you gotta run yourself back home!Long since you saw your soul
Stranger in the mirror
Stand and stare at your dirty shoes
Theyve gotta get you homeCause you dont have to run away
You never have to run away
You never have to run away no, no, no!
You dont wanna be alone
You never wanna be alone
But you know you gotta run yourself back home!
Run away, you always wanna run away, you always gotta run away!
Cause you dont wanna be alone, be alone
But you better run yourself back home!
Run yourself back home
You gotta run yourself back home!
You gotta run yourself back home!
You gotta run yourself back home!

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/