Still Crazy For You

Rick Springfield

You know my feelings run deep
You've got me calling your name in my sleep
We've held each other while we cried through the night
It always turned out alright
But I fell victim to a parallax view
I sensed a change but I swore it was you
I shied away when you needed me most
I didn't see what I was doing, now I'm left destitute
I never knew how lost I could be till today
My panorama's dark, my sight's been stripped away
I can't seem to bridge this break between us two
Don't you know I need you back now, baby
Can't you see, I'm still crazy for you
We've thrived in shadows from scene to scene
My mind still wanders to the tavern on the green
We lived for moments that we stole away
They seem as vivid today
We had our problems, and we hadn't the time
You clung to yours and I did to mine
Didn't I see how they tore us apart
Now I'm a banished refugee, there's nothing left for me
I never knew how lost I could be till today
My panorama's dark, my sight's been stripped away
I can't seem to bridge this break between us two
Don't you know I need you back now, baby
Can't you see, I'm still crazy for you
I never knew how lost I could be till today
My panorama's dark, my sight's been stripped away
I can't seem to bridge this break between us two
Don't you know I need you back now, baby
Can't you see, I'm still crazy for you
Still crazy for you, still crazy for you
I'm so crazy for you, still crazy for you
