Promised Land

Ani DiFranco

You're taking up lots of space
Your shit is everywhere
Your breath is all up in my face
Your hands are swarming in the airYou're the first one out the car and then
You're the loudest one in the bar

Tell me, is there something wrong, girlfriend?
What's with this new version of who you are?So she lifts her chin and squints at me
To assess what I think I know

She says, my heart has some dangerous neighborhoods

So beware where you try to goThey say that the truth will set you free

But then so will a lie

It depends if you're trying to get to the promised land
Or you're just trying to get byWhat is a camera but a box of light?
What is a guitar but a box of sound?

You think I don't understand
But I think I mightWhat it is to harness the emptiness
And just ride it around

And maybe your chest is an empty shell
With ribs of spiraling coralWhere a perfect pearl of sadness resides
But if you ever need an ear
I could just come and press it there
Listen to the sound of the ocean inside
