

Mother Tongue

Wyoming

stuck in reverse, it's a curse to let you down every time I'm around I know I can't stay but won't stay away constant fear unfolds, unfolds it makes you say things that lead me astray you never heard me, you never heard me say:

let it go
home, home, home

I feel that heavy swell
home, home, home

I hear my feelings tell me that I left my home, home, home

those words are empty shells but yet they're cut in stone, home, home

I forgot to speak and spell in my mother tongue at home, home, home

I forgot to speak and spell
you never heard me, you never heard me say:

let it go
