

Knock Louder

Dale Earnhardt Jr. Jr.

When all the rain is pouring down
And there is no one else around
Don't believe that I will ever share my world with anyone but you
If there is water leaking in
And all the cracks are wearing thin
Don't believe that I will never share my world with anyone but you And if they don't hear the door, just knock louder
And if they still don't...
We'll scream at the top of our lungs
We'll scream at the top of our lungs
I will never share my world with anyone but you
If you should be first to pass on Even if I am still quite young
Don't believe that I will ever give my heart to anyone but you
Sometimes a moment comes along
You've heard about it in a song
Don't believe that I will ever give my heart to anyone but you
And if they don't hear the door, just knock louder
And if they still don't...
We'll scream at the top of our lungs
We'll scream at the top of our lungs
I will never give my heart with anyone but you I will never share my world with anyone but you
