Unpleasant Touch

Abaendon

Always turning aroud me
With everything to gain
Trying to push you away is often vain
You're not hiding your blackness

And when you come too close
I feel so powerless
You're acting like a bloodsucker
You poison my heart deeper

You feed on me and then go away
Trying to catch you is not possible anyway
You pass from woman to woman
Buzzing around them as you did then

And after this unpleasant touch
The only thing left is not much
Some trace that remains
That only time can erase.
