

Craven

Lyria

Someone told me
That you've been telling some lies
Somehow I noticed
That you've been hiding your cries
You close yourself
And cover your feelings
I cannot just guess what you are dreaming
You don't want to share
You fear being weakened
Outside a shell you could be stricken
I've given you my head, my words and my heart
And you have thrown all away
When all I've asked (you) was to keep by my side
But you don't want to stay
Cause you're craven
Oh Craven
