Seek You Out

Poets of the Fall

Never said you'd promise anything
Never told to trust you blindly
Never thought you'd hurt me eitherNever had a chance now ain't that so
Never should've wept when you let go
Never thought you'd push me awaySad as it may be
I'm glad it's over finally
Speaks volumes of me
When letting go is never easySo I'll seek you out just to find myself
And I'll worry 'bout consequences later
I'll hear you out till I hear myself
Hear myself in youNever knew if we were really true
Never thought I'd ever get to you
Never thought I'd end up like thisNever was I stronger than I'm now
Never felt this much a fool somehow
Never had much thought for myselfSad as it may be
I'm glad it's over finally
Speaks volumes of me
When letting go is never easySo I'll seek you out just to find myself
And I'll worry 'bout consequences later
I'll hear you out till I hear myself
Hear myself in youI'll seek you out just to find myself
And I'll worry 'bout consequences later
I'll hear you out, till I hear myself
I hear myself in you, youI'll seek you out just to find myself
And I'll worry 'bout consequences later
I'll hear you out till I hear myself
Hear myself in youNever knew if we were really true
Never thought I'd ever get to you
Never thought I'd end up like thisNever said you'd promise anything
Never told to trust you blindly
Never thought you'd hurt me
