

Meltdown

King Crimson

Now he lies buried in metaphors
And allegory won't let him breathe
Distorting the truth, suffocates language in spin
We're drowning in double speak lexicon
Reason washed up out of reach
Devised and contrived injected under his skin
Words in meltdown
When in doubt better say nothing
Don't speak without a place to begin
When in doubt don't just say something
Those platitudes start to wear thin
Words in meltdown
Watch it coming down, bear without a sound
See their kingdom drown under the waves

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>