

Colors

Crossfade

Can you feel it crush you?
Does it seem to bring the worst in you out?
There's no running away from
These things that hold you down Do they complicate you
Because they make you feel like this?
Of all the colors that you've shine
This is surely not your best But you should know
These colors that you're shining are Surely not the best colors that you shine
Surely not the best colors that you shine I know you feel alone, yeah
And no one else can figure you out
But don't you ever turn away
From the ones that help you down Well they'd love to save you
Don't you know they love to see your smile
But these colors that you've shined
Are surely not your style But you should know
These colors that you're shining are Surely not the best colors that you shine
Surely not the best colors that you shine I know you're feeling like you're lost
But you should know
These colors that you're shining are evil I know you're feeling like you're lost
You feel you've drifted way to far
Did you know these colors that you're shining are Surely not the best colors that you shine
Surely not the best colors that you shine (Surely not the best)
I know you're feeling like you're lost
(Colors that you shine)
But you should know
These colors that you're shining are (Surely not the best)
I know you're feeling like you're lost
You feel you've drifted way to far
Did you know these colors that you're shining are

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>