

Sunday Souvenirs

Two Gallants

I have seen the summer sun
Come rest upon your cheek
And I have seen young Hercules
Grow feeble and grow weak
    Memories
    Memories of what I gave away
        Lost love
    All the love that's lost along the way
        Slow down
    Let me hold you once before you fade
        When all of my leaving is done
        Then I will take my rest
    Count all my possessions when there's
        No possessions left
        Memories
    Memories are all I have today
        Lost love
    All the love that's lost and gone away
        Slow down
    Let me hold you once before you fade
